TIDAL WAVE OF RESPONSE FOLLOWS KENNEDY'S BERLIN 'CALL TO ARMS'

JOE AND RUBY LANDERS, acting managers of Orchid Tree Inn, while manager Harry Paisley is on vacation, paddle a two-seater over the highways and byways of the community to see the sights. "Summer is just fine in Palm Springs," says the couple who plan to move here. Orchid Tree is one of many local hotels which have stayed open all summer.

Latin Community Leader Succumbs

Mrs. Rafaela de Marmolejo Valdez, a columnist for The Desert Sun for the last four years and leading figure in Palm Springs' Latin community, died this morning in Riverside Community Hospital.

Born in Mexico 47 years ago, she came to the United States with her parents at the age of 10 and settled first in the Banning area and later in Palm Springs.

After her marriage she lived in Las Vegas and Salt Lake City, but made frequent trips here to see members of her family. She moved back here permanently in 1953 when her husband was killed in an automobile accident.

During the ensuing years Mrs. Valdez was a leading participant in the activities of the local Mexican colony, serving as an adviser and organizing numerous fiestas, dances and other activities.

Water Company To Sell First Mortgage Bonds

Palm Springs Water Co. will sell $300,000 of 5 1/4 per cent first mortgage bonds to the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., it was announced today.

Funds gained from sale of the bonds will be used to discharge notes payable to the Security First National Bank, now aggregating $280,000, and to finance capital expenditures.

Harry Yesness Death Learned

Word was received here today that Harry Yesness, long-time winter visitor to Palm Springs, died July 8 in Denver, Colo., of a heart attack.

Yesness, a leading Caspar, Wyo., businessman for 50 years, owned a home here at 1330 Sagebrush Rd.

His only immediate survivor is a sister, Miss Tillie Yesness, who lived with him at the family home in Caspar and accompanied him to Palm Springs.

'Losing the War,' Police Chief Says In Reporting 54% Crime Increase Here

An alarming increase of 54 per cent in crime in Palm Springs is disturbing to the professional law enforcement officer, who realizes that "we are losing the war" with the criminal element and probably the apathy of the careless citizen has something to do with it," Chief of Police August Kettmann said.

In his year-end report released today, Kettmann said that in reviewing the past fiscal year it is obvious that "a lot of our visitors and residents are not people of above average means who have come here to enjoy the desert sun and the therapeutic value of hot springs mineral water."

"Police records indicate that a considerable number of professional jewel thieves, fur thieves,

TV Station Planned Here

Plans to build and operate a Palm Springs television station were announced today by the H & B American Corp., parent company of the local television cable company.

Plans for the new station, the first television broadcasting station to serve the Palm Springs resort area, call for operation in the UHF band of frequencies rendering service to the public without charge, the announcement said.

The disclosures came in a joint statement from David E. Bright, president of H & B American Corp., and John S. Muir, Jr., vice president of Palm Springs Television Co., which is owned by H & B.

They said the new station will broadcast on Channel 19 and estimated that there are already approximately 650 television receivers in the area equipped to pick UHF (Ultra High Frequency).

Limited Programs
UHF receivers now in use receive channels 70, 73 and 77 which are broadcast by Palm Springs Translator station. This station, operating on voluntary contributions by users, has been airing limited programs from Los Angeles and Tijuana stations. It is reported in process of completing expanded programming.

Palm Springs Television Co. has been providing a wide range of television signals through a cable

E. Germans Establish Road Blocks

Machine Guns, Radio Patrols Try To Cut Off Exodus

BERLIN (UPI) — The East German army was reported today to have thrown up machine-gun road blocks along highways in an effort to slow the flow of refugees to the West.

Travelers to Berlin said that in addition to roadblocks, East German army patrols equipped with walkie-talkies were roving the highways leading to Berlin—both east and west of the city making thorough traffic checks.

In the past, inhabitants of the East German Communist Zone traveled to East Berlin along these highways and then crossed into West Berlin and freedom. The checks were believed designed to stem this flow to the West.

It was the first time the Communists were reported to be using units of their 110,000-man "people's army" in support of regular police to curb the flow of refugees.

The army troops were reinforced by Communist peoples police. One traveler said 12-man squads of Communist police were traveling on open trucks.

Despite Communist moves to curb the refugee flow some 1,000 more East Germans today requested asylum in West Berlin.

This raised to about 26,000 the total of East Germans who fled to the West this month.

West German intelligence experts meanwhile were reported to believe that the Soviet Union is worried about how much loyalty they would get from the East German army in a fight over Berlin.

Enlistment, CD Actions Seen Throughout U.S.

By United Press International
Americans flocked to enlistment centers to ask what they could do for their country and flooded civil defense switchboards to ask what they could do for themselves today in an outpouring of response to President Kennedy's call for an arms buildup.

Enlistment centers reported more inquiries than at any time since the Korean conflict.

Similar reports came from Birmingham, Atlanta, Des Moines, San Diego and perhaps the nation's best known recruiting center in New York's Times Square. A St. Louis Air Force recruiter said there generally is a few days' delay between inquiries and enlistments. "Business will definitely pick up," he said. Another spokesman predicted "a week or so" before a flurry of actual enlistments.

What And When
Many callers were interested in how much they would have to do for their country, and how soon. Sp. 4 Thomas Lucas at the Pittsburgh enlistment center said dozens of questions involved reservists' status.

"Apparently the people are a little shook up," Lucas said. "Mothers were asking about their sons. Girls were asking about their boyfriends. Some were veterans of World War II and Korea asking about how — or if — they could re-enlist."

A Birmingham Marine recruiting sergeant said "lots of boys who've missed the draft so far are all of a sudden worried." In Detroit, 25 men applied for the Navy Wednesday.

Age appeared to alter the outlook in Memphis, a Marine recruiter said. "I don't think it has really sunk in with the younger people yet," Sgt. L.G. Eaves said. "The young ones who have come in to volunteer seem to be more indignant about our airplane in Cuba than about Berlin. They want to go in there and bring back that airplane."

"They seem to understand that better."

CD Special Session Asked

LA MESA (UPI) — Assemblyman Sheridan Hegland, D-La Mesa, has called on Gov. Edmund G. Brown for a special session of the legislature to strengthen the state's civil defense program because of the Berlin crisis.

Hegland sent a letter to Brown Wednesday urging the governor to call the special session in September or October to consider such steps as increased fallout shelter construction.

Military Bills Win Speedy Committee Okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Armed Services Committee swiftly approved today two bills named by President Kennedy for building up the nation's military might.

The committee acted shortly after Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara testified on the legislation. McNamara assured the committee that the President would "use sparingly" the requested new power to call reservists to active duty and lengthen military service of other personnel.

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said the committee gave unanimous approval to a bill authorizing the Army, Navy and Air Force to spend an additional $958 million for planes, ships and missiles.

Russell said the committee voted 14 to 1 on the measure which would let the President call as many as 250,000 reservists to a year of active duty, retain others for a year after their military commitments expire and extend training periods.

McNamara told the committee that he and the President "are well aware of the disruptive effects and the hardships that such recalls to active duty have on the individuals involved."

Californians to Enter Service

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's Selective Service director said today that President Kennedy's program for building the armed forces would take one-quarter of the 65,000 young Californians now classified as 1A.

Col. Kenneth H. Leitch said that since the President had not yet set an exact timetable for the buildup, he could not say when the men would be inducted.

News In Brief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee approved President Kennedy's controversial long-range foreign aid financing plan today. It was a major administration victory.

The five-year, $8.8 billion plan would finance development loans for foreign countries by government borrowing.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An American "task force" planned to leave today for Paris to begin coordinating Allied political, military and diplomatic strategy against Soviet efforts to force the West out of Berlin.

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The nation's almost combat-ready "push button" missile, the Minuteman, was fired for the third time today in a series of tests aimed at making it operational by mid-1962.

The 33-ton intercontinental ballistic missile, which could be guided with a nuclear warhead to enemy targets by "automatic" guidance, blasted off a scooped-out launching pad at 10:09 a.m. EST 8:09 a.m. PDT.

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — One hundred and fifty-six Negroes went into 40 formerly all-white restaurants and washrooms throughout Dallas Wednesday.

DHS Pool Party Set at Riviera

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — Chamber of Commerce President George Mueller today reminded that everybody's welcome to the swim party scheduled Friday from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Hacienda Riviera Pool. Proceeds from the event will go to the chamber's advertising fund for Desert Hot Springs.

today declaring he was "optimistic" after his three-day on-the-spot investigation of last week's Franco-Tunisian fighting for Bizerte.

MOSCOW (UPI) — U. S. disarmament adviser John J. McCloy returned to Moscow today after two days of talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that touched on President Kennedy's Berlin crisis speech.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ernest S. Marsh, president of the Santa Fe Railway, asserted today that his company should be allowed to control the Western Pacific Railroad in the interest of national defense.

Marsh, of Chicago, appeared at a hearing of the Interstate Commerce Commission to determine whether Santa Fe or its rival, Southern Pacific, should be permitted to take over Western Pacific, a key western line. Santa Fe began presenting its case today following Southern Pacific's arguments.

Solon Says U. S. Should Keep Tossing Its Millions Into Post Office Coffers

By EDWARD J. MOWERY
WASHINGTON — Several months ago, a South Dakota congressman told a wildly-cheering assembly of postal workers that the annual Post Office deficit is a "myth."

Moreover, declared Rep. George S. McGovern, the agency's budget is strictly "imaginary" and it's the government's duty to keep on tossing millions into the postal deficit pot.

The postal employees were holding a salary boost rally in Huron, S.D., and McGovern was making a partisan pitch for votes in an election year. Congress voted the salary rise into law later in the summer.

"The postal service," the politician explained, "should be precisely what the name implies — a service and not a business enterprise."

While this hybrid "service" should be run "economically and efficiently," it enjoys no "antonomalous" stature as a federal agency and its revenues flow directly into the treasury. It's a dependent step-child of Congress.

Deficit Is Nonsense
"Under these circumstances," McGovern asserted, "all talk about a postal deficit is nonsense. And (deficit) figures . . .

add up to a meaningless statistic."

Each postmaster general, the Congressman continued, tries "desperately and ineffectually" to balance his ersatz budget, struggling to become the hero who made the agency "pay its own way."

This . . . is ridiculous. Besides, why worry about an annual postal loss — a "statistic" — when the richest nation in the world racks up a gross national product of "approximately $450 billion?"

Automation and mechanization are OK if they improve postal "efficiency," and the Post Office is the "indispensable bond" between (See KEEP TOSSING, Page 5)

MVD Meeting Held

Brazil, Iceland Spain Picked in Beauty Pageant

LONG BEACH (UPI)— Three more preliminary winners were decided upon Wednesday night in the 1961 International Beauty Congress—Miss Brazil, Miss Iceland and Miss Spain.

The three young lovelies were voted the winners in the second round of the competition at Long Beach Municipal Auditorium. The final round will be held tonight, with the crowning to be held Friday night.

Vera Marie Brauner, 19, Polotas, Brazil, won the national costume and speech division. She is a student at a Brazilian college, where she is studying to be a teacher. She has studied music and plays the piano.

A prospective actress, Sigrun Ragnarsdottir, 18, of Kópavogi, Iceland, won in the evening gown division. The blue-eyed blonde, as might be expected, is an excellent ice skater.

Spain's Carmen Cervera, 18, of Barcelona, won in the playclothes division. Miss Cervera is doing secretarial study at Marimont International School and hopes to make a career on the stage.

Tuesday night's winners were the misses Canada, Panama and Holland.

Miss Holland, Stanny van Baer, 19, also came in for another award last night—Miss Photogenic. The award was voted upon by the press photographers who covered last Sunday's flashy parade through the streets of Long Beach.

GM REPORTS DECLINE IN NET EARNINGS

NEW YORK (UPI)— General Motors Corp. recorded a drop in net earnings during the first six months of 1961, but still had net income of $449 million for the period.

Earnings before taxes were $576 million and tax payments in the United States and foreign countries amounted to $436 million, GM announced Wednesday.

Common stock earnings were equivalent to $1.53 a share for the first half of 1961, compared to $2.15 per share for the first half of 1960.

Earnings in the second quarter of this year were 88 cents a share, accounting for more than half of the earnings recorded for the first six months.

Judge Probe Continues

LOS ANGELES (UPI)— The County Grand Jury continued today its investigation of Downey Municipal Judge Lynn W. Johnston, accused of trying to give women defendants legal favors in exchange for intimacies.

The jury heard 12 witnesses Wednesday in closed proceedings and an official reported three of the women witnesses accused the 42-year-old father of making propositions to them.

Today Marks Castro's Personal 4th of July

WASHINGTON WINDOW
By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Today is Fidel Castro's own peculiar Cuban Fourth of July and a reminder that the citizens of the United States still are awaiting an answer to an important question: The question: "How did that fellow Castro grab Cuba in the first place?"

The answer is important. It is important because the question suggests a chilling possibility of more to come. Part of the answer to this question is pretty well authenticated by now although not officially confirmed.

The available information seems to prove that this fellow Castro grabbed Cuba in the first place because of a breakdown in communications right here in Washington. To pin point: The breakdown seems to have been in the Department of State.

No Robin Hood
This was during the Eisenhower administration. The Federal Bureau of Investigation and, perhaps, the Central Intelligence Agency knew Castro's record. Intelligence reports on his Communist associations and sympathies were prepared for the President and the secretary of state long before the Beard seized Havana.

Castro was no Cuban Robin Hood, fighting from his mountain strong point to liberate the Cuban common man. On the contrary, Fidel Castro was one of communism's secret weapons. Much could be said against Fulgencio Batista whom Castro deposed. But it could be said for Batista that he was not the deadly enemy of the United States nor was he in cahoots with Nikita Khrushchev.

That should have been enough

Guy V. Daniels, assistant to Robert McCarthy, state director of motor vehicles, delivered a set of plans to local officials which City Manager Dan Wagner said would be studied and presented to the City Council.

Current proposals call for the City to construct a suitable building and lease it to the Motor Vehicles Department for five years with an option to extend the lease for five more. The building would be located in the civic center area just south of the Police Station on Civic Drive.

Wagner told The Desert Sun that building costs would first have to be estimated and a complete report submitted to the state before work could proceed. He said it could take up to 60 days before final arrangements were made.

Attending the meeting in the city manager's office Wednesday in addition to Wagner and Daniels were City Planning Director Richard Coleman; Acting Director of Public Works Harold Stone; Assistant Planner Ji Bear Paw; Director of Finance Shelby Langford; City Attorney Jerry Bunker; Chief of Police August Kettmann; Councilman Ted McKinney; and Woodrow Wilson, another representative of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Sarah Churchill Fined in London

LONDON (UPI)— Sarah Churchill actress daughter of Sir Winston Churchill, was fined $5.60 on drunk and disorderly charges here today. She was released when the court was told a doctor would accept her as "an informal patient."

The 46-year-old Miss Churchill appeared in Bow Street Court after being held in jail since July 15, when a probation officer described her as an "alcoholic."

Letter Describes 'Panicky' Berliners

Ken Hansen, local real estate man now touring Europe, writes from Germany that the tense situation throughout that country is "very serious" and is reflected in the faces and action of the populace.

He has been in Europe more than a month now, and plans to stay another two or three months. Talking of his trip to West Berlin, Hansen said that the boat he travelled on "was full of plain clothes policemen," and noted that everybody travelled in groups and appeared panicky.

"People all over Europe are wonderful. I should be happy here," said Hansen, "but I am very sad and depressed. Everybody here tries to smile and be happy, but there appears to be a dazed and bewitched look on their faces, like the calm before the storm."

"I spent three hours in the Soviet zone (East Berlin) and I found myself with tears in my eyes after seeing the bombed ruins. Hitler's quarters still lay in shambles, and I thought what a pity and horrible sight to see."

Hansen went on to report: "West Berlin, which is governed by the U.S., France, and Great Britain, is being constantly rebuilt, and more than 4,000 persons come from the east to west every week, which spells trouble. They may close off the border."

Hansen, who has visited Denmark, Norway and Sweden, will travel to Switzerland, Austria, Italy, and on to the French Riviera.

Family Leaves After Arrests

The Indiana family accused of going on a shoplifting spree while on vacation here was released and immediately left for home after the two women involved received 30-day suspended jail sentences in Palm Springs Justice Court.

Police said 16-month-old Tracey Lee Davis, daughter of two of the suspects, who was taken into protective custody along with the four-year-old, left "in better condition than when she came in." Tracey was reportedly the youngest person ever taken into custody here.

The two women, Gladys Davis, 35, and Emma Jean Davis, 20, wives of two Indianapolis brothers, Carle, 37, and John 26, pleaded guilty to charges they took 26 separate items, mostly clothing, from numerous local stores.

Police said the men were not involved in the shoplifting and were released without charges being proffered.

RON EICHER, second from right, head of the Palm Springs Optimists, discusses plans for the approaching 38th District Convention of the organization at the Palm Springs Riviera Hotel with other Optimist officials, including Smitty P. Miner, left, of St. Louis, an international director.

Theft of 130 gallons of oil from the grounds of the College of the Desert, in Palm Desert last night was reported to Sheriff's deputies in Indio today.

Deputies said someone carted away four large barrels containing oil.

Ralph B. March Gets Dean Post

RIVERSIDE — Ralph B. March, professor of entomology, has been named dean of the graduate division at the University of California at Riverside.

The announcement was made today by President Clark Kerr and Chancellor Herman T. Spieth, following action by the Board of Regents.

Dr. March received his A.B., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in entomology from the University of Illinois and joined the University of California, Riverside, in 1948. His areas of research cover toxicological, physiological and biochemical investigations of insecticides, including the mode of action of insecticides and the relationship of organic insecticides and insect resistance.

"That the Regents should have appointed Dr. March," Chancellor Spieth said, "is not only recognition of a distinguished scientist but is especially fitting, since during the next few years the preponderance of graduate work on this campus will be in the sciences with an especially heavy contribution in the agricultural sciences."

Rotarians Will Hear Lou Miller

Lou Miller, just back from a tour of both East and West Germany, will speak to his fellow Palm Desert Rotarians on his trip when the club meets Friday at the Firecliff Lodge.

Last week Dan McCall son of club president Roy McCall, told the Rotarians of his experiences in a recent stay behind the Iron Curtain as an exchange student.

Kettmann Acts To Insure Checks Followed Through

Police Chief August G. Kettmann has issued a special directive seeking to insure that in the future all notices of past arrests of city employees are immediately forwarded by his personnel to the city manager, The Desert Sun learned today.

The directive was issued after top city officials were shocked last week by the news that then Public Works Director William F. Crosson, who has since resigned, had been indicted by a federal grand jury in Los Angeles and, in fact, had been arrested May 2. He was out of jail on $1,000 bond when he reported for work here May 15.

City officials had received no word of the arrest, although notice of it had come to the police department June 21.

What happened, according to reports The Desert Sun has received from highly reliable sources, is that Crosson's fingerprints were taken June 7. This is standard procedure for all new city employees.

The prints were sent back to local police June 21 with a yellow sheet attached listing Crosson's arrest on charges of sending obscene matters through the mail.

But somehow the arrest was not noticed and the prints were filed away with nothing being reported to city officials, who thus were not forewarned of Crosson's troubles.

Kettmann's current directive seeks to insure that such slip-ups become impossible. Henceforth, all fingerprint checks, when returned to the local department, will be scanned by someone in a supervisory capacity.

Records of past arrests will immediately be brought to Kettmann's attention and by him to the city manager.

Integration Now, Rev. Scott Tells Rotarians

The Rev. George Scott Jr., first Negro to address the Palm Springs Rotary Club, told its members Wednesday that American Negroes are "sick and tired" of waiting for integration.

"We don't want to wait," the local Negro leader said. "Our grandfathers were told to wait. Our fathers had to. We don't want to."

On segregation Scott said: "I think it's wrong, and I wish something would be done about it by 9 o'clock tomorrow morning."

The clergyman, introduced as a "level-headed moderate" by City Attorney Jerry Bunker, who said too many fanatics had been heard on both sides of the race question, gave a brief but richly worded talk before the Rotarians' weekly luncheon at the Chi Chi.

Scott said that "in order to export more democracy, we must produce more democracy." And he asserted: "The greatest gift to the United States in its world struggle today would be an end to segregation."

"The Negro American today is distrustful of white America," Scott stated. "He smiles to his boss in front, but grimaces with disgust in the back."

The reason for this, according to the speaker, is the long record of inequal and cruel treatment of American Negroes, not only before, but after slavery was abolished in 1863.

Answering allegations that the "freedom riders" in the South were embarrassing the United States abroad, Scott said: "We (American Negroes) have been embarrassed all our lives."

Scott is public relations director at the Church of God and Christ here. Left unmentioned in his 20-minute talk were problems involving housing for local minority groups being evicted from Section 14.

Farmers' Fair To Feature Arts, Crafts Department

HEMET — An arts and crafts department, with a professional competition class in fine arts, will be included in the Farmers' Fair here Aug. 16-20, Herbert F. Beckert, board vice president, announced.

The exhibits will be open to residents of Riverside, San Bernardino, Orange, Imperial and San Diego counties. Entries must be work done within the past year, and not previously exhibited in a fair. Deadline for entries is Aug. 6. Exhibits will be accepted between 2 and 5 p.m. Aug. 13, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Aug. 14.

Paintings and drawings must measure between 20 by 24 inches, to a maximum of 36 by 42 inches, wired and framed for hanging. All paintings must be titled.

A $50 cash premium and trophy will be awarded in the professional class. Adult amateur fine arts classes include oil and watercolor originals; miscellaneous including pastel, charcoal, pen and ink, pencil, modern and monotype. Exhibitors under 18 years of age may compete in the junior division.

Summer Means Patio and Poolside Time Again in Palm Springs

WOMEN of The Desert

Edited by Sue Raymond

Judge Merrill Brown Talks to Legal Secretaries Group

Superior Court Judge Merrill Brown was guest speaker, when the Desert Legal Secretaries Association held a dinner-meeting at Firecliff Lodge in Palm Desert.

Brown addressed the law-minded group on the subject of our court system. He explained the organization, authority and duties of courts ranging from the Justice Court to the State Superior Court.

Following this informative talk, Lila Hodgen presided at a business meeting of the newly-formed group.

By-laws of the club were read by the president and a report was given by the treasurer. Further plans were made for the installation of officers to be held at a special dinner party on August 12, at the Biltmore Hotel.

Officers will be installed by Judge Brown, and Indio attorney Gordon Cologne, a member of the California State Legislature, will act as master of ceremonies.

Deadline for charter membership in the club is passed, and so the following 32 women comprise that membership: Lila Hodgen, Charlotte Treatch, Ruth Johanson, Frances Upchurch, Lucille Mitchell, Ruth Burth, Alice Stevens, Lee Olsen, Catherine Wood, Rosella Stoddard, and Mildred Wenger.

Also, Suzanne Hubbard, Ethel Clark, Linda Hoftzyer, Joan Trimble, Shirley Henry, Margaret Singler, Francine Murray, Florence Ross, Elizabeth Dwire, Dena James, Betsy McKinney, Deloras Clems and Mary Jean Ringwald.

From Indio, charter members are: Ruth Windsor, Virginia Hooten, Phyllis Buck, Linda Widmar, Harriet Burkhard, Lee Herz and Jessie Christianson. Dagmar Litwin represents Banning.

Guests from Indio, who enjoyed dining and swimming afterwards, were Ruth Holt, Pat Ridell, Toni Avila, Leota Brand, Murielle Hooten and Margaret Garcia.

Other guests were Frances Betty Heidewald, Knox and Josephine Wagner of Palm Desert, and Eileen Hair of Palm Springs.

Anyone engaged in legal work of any nature, or employed by the U.S. Government, State of California, County of Riverside, cities of Indio, Palm Springs or Banning, are eligible to join the association.

For information or reservations for the installation meeting contact: Virginia Hooten at Diamond 7-2371 or 7-1124, or Betsy McKinney at 324-3195.

Outer Space Life Can Be Leisurely

If it's privacy and the comfort of easy living you're looking for, you don't have to charter a space ship. Every family has its own special 'outer space' world waiting to be developed in the outdoor living area that surrounds the average American home.

Here you can create your own elegant haven for summer's thoughts of far-off places. Of, if you prefer, you can set a colorful stage for gay family gatherings.

Pick the mood you desire for your outdoor living area, and you'll find it already well expressed in the wide line of casual and outdoor furniture on today's market.

Not long ago, summer furniture was restricted to maybe a choice of porch swings (with or without the familiar squeak), a few wicker pieces, and some comfort-defying wooden chairs for the more hardy of the species. But today's summer furniture parades under a number of names — indoor-outdoor, casual, garden, and patio — and comes in an amazing variety of designs, every bit as style conscious as regular furniture lines.

Early American — still the most popular traditional style — has now turned up in summer furniture, along with French Provincial, Oriental, and even architectural modern. And if you keep up with current furniture fashions, you can even find expressions of Spanish Colonial, Empire, and modified Gothic.

Regardless of the style you settle on, be sure it's furniture you can literally settle on in solid comfort. In the casual furniture field, comfort is just as important as appearance.

If yours is a semi-sheltered area, you can have the added comfort of deep-cushioned casual pieces — elegantly framed in ornamental wrought iron, aluminum, or rattan; or sturdily handsome in redwood or Philippine mahogany. All-weather types of furniture with metal or wood frames are available with resilient cotton pads for added comfort.

How comfortable your cushioned outdoor furniture will be and how long it will stand up to the weather will depend on the "inside story."

Come rain or shine, cotton cushioning can be left outdoors in all weather. Its natural fibers allow air circulation, resulting in cushioning that dries quickly after a summer shower. Unlike some cushioning materials which deteriorate when left exposed to the sun, cotton isn't harmed by sunlight. And it's not damaged by cleaning fluids.

Another important consideration for outdoor cushioning is its coolness. Instead of throwing out heat, cotton batting remains cool and comfortable because air circulates freely through its fibers.

Fabric coverings for summer furniture offer the color-loving homemaker an opportunity to shake off the restraint that interior decorating sometimes demands and let bold, bright shades create a riotous color effect as gay as all-outdoors.

Even the most color-timid female can move with the assurance that nature has comfortably combined every shade imaginable into a pleasing landscape. Fabric

PATIO FURNITURE used to be hidden in the back yard. Today with leisure furniture being decorative as well as utilitarian, a hostess can entertain handsomely in outer space. See story on this page for the "what's new of patio furniture."

coverings like canvas, duck, and sailcloth come decked out in gay contrasting stripes, brilliant mood lifting solids, clusters of floral bouquets, and even jaunty nautical patterns. For the woman who prefers the quiet coolness of pastels, these fabrics include everything from soft turquoise to pale plum.

Color tones can be picked up, too, in the framing of your outdoor furniture. Favorites in wrought iron finishes include antiqued whites, Pompeian greens, or whites rubbed with pink or mocha. Or you might prefer aluminum frames in lush Mediterranean colors such as apricot as well as olive and eggshell white. Even the traditional color appeal of rich wood tones has been enhanced for new stains for wooden framing.

Add it all up, and it's not hard to see that summer furniture is no longer the kind you put in storage 'til next season. It remains equally at home under the August moon or in the living room.

Quit Snacking

A good way to control weight gain is to halt nibbling.

Dr. Ellen H. Morse, of the University of Vermont, makes the preachment. She reminds that a medium sized caramel or a large gumball adds 40 calories. Other statistics to help you break the nibbling habit: A one ounce chocolate bar contains 150 calories; a square of chocolate fudge, 115.

Soap Paper for Picnic Usage

Here's how to make your own instant soap pads for travel, hikes, or picnics.

Soak folded paper towels in a dense soap solution. Then dry the soaped-up towels over an outdoor line. They will pack compactly for the trip, and need only to be immersed in water to serve as a pre-soaped washcloth.

'Guard Eyes,' Say Life Guards

Studies made with a group of Atlantic City life guards over two summers are an even stronger argument for care of the eyes when exposed to the sun.

It was found that, on an average, sensitivity to light at night is reduced by more than one-third after a day in the sun without sunglasses, and in some cases it is reduced by as much as nine-tenths. In most people some effect persists for two or three days and in a number of cases it continues for more than a week. Eye specialists recommend that a good rule for a selection of sunglasses is "the darker the better." Inexpensive glasses will serve the purpose, although they may not fit as well, as their flat lenses are not so easy on the eyes as more expensive, curved lenses.

Veils on little hats travel with glamour after-five, give you an aura, makes eyes bewitching.

Beauty Tips For Bathing Beauties

Planning to make a grand entrance poolside this summer? With so many smart swim fashions to choose from, you can look sleek in a knit maillot, daring in a brief bikini, demure in a tiny-waisted print. But wait just a minute! Before you make a splash in our new swim suit, you'll want to groom yourself to look your very best. Are your legs smooth and unblemished? Are your feet at their prettiest, neatly pedicured? Or do they need first aid?

Our feet are probably the most neglected parts of our body. We tend to stick them into shoes and forget about them. However, when summer rolls around they're constantly on view. And, since you can't keep them buried in the sand, it's a good idea to groom them carefully.

One good way to get feet and toes into shape is to treat them to a daily massage with petroleum jelly. One of its many uses is as a healing balm to soften rough skin. Rub it into heels and toes, apply it on cuticles for easy pedicuring. It will soothe calluses on heels and balls of feet.

During the summer, sunbathing and salt water dry out our skins, too. If you notice your legs and elbows are becoming a bit dry and scaly, apply petroleum jelly. It will help to moisturize and soften your skin, keep you looking pretty as a pin-up all summer long!

IT'S A FACT...ABOUT ERMA

WORLD'S FIRST ELECTRONIC BOOKKEEPER

YOU COULD WALK AROUND THE WORLD IN 23½ MINUTES!

That's if you could take steps as fast as ERMA! You see, ERMA needs only 32 millionths of a second for each step in processing checks. ERMA is Bank of America's revolutionary new Electronic Recording Method of Accounting. Here's how ERMA works: the numbers on each ERMA check are printed with a special magnetic ink containing microscopic specks of iron. When a check goes through ERMA's electronic "reader," each number is magnetized and sends out an electric impulse which is recorded by a computer. Even though a check may be folded or crumpled, ERMA reads it accurately, computes your statement in moments, without error. That's our ERMA—and she works for you only at Bank of America!

ERMA CHECKS HER OWN ARITHMETIC!

ERMA not only prepares your statement in moments, but to make doubly sure there are no errors on it, ERMA checks all her own work afterward. Pioneered and developed by Bank of America, ERMA provides the fastest and most accurate service for handling checks in banking history!

ERMA KNOWS WHO YOU ARE—INSTANTLY!

As part of its ERMA system, Bank of America now gives all regular checking customers free personalized checks — your name and address printed on all your checks at no extra charge. Why not open your account today?

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI) — When an American astronaut orbits the earth, probably next year, TV cameras will be left waiting at the empty launching pad for about 80 minutes.
Question: How will TV fill time between lift-off and touch-down?
Answer: Factually, without electronic deception.
In short, the industry has learned a lesson from last Friday's suborbital flight by Capt. Virgil Grissom. Many NBC-TV and CBS-TV viewers believed, at the time, that they were seeing part of a stirring astronaut conversation between Grissom and Alan Shepard. When they learned, belatedly, that they had actually seen a pre-recorded rehearsal scene from the Project Mercury control room, they felt cheated. ABC-TV avoided this pitfall by spurning the Shepard tape.
While the offending networks offered explanations for "the great Cape Canaveral tape jape caper," they also recognized the serious nature of their offense.
To see for myself what a remorseful network executive looks like, I visited the calm, cool and carpeted office of Richard Salant, president of the CBS news division, Tuesday. Salant, a father of five children who bears a resemblance to "Dennis the Menace's" patient, good-humored dad, called Friday's gaffe "inexcusable."
"It won't happen again," he said. "We're all shamed."

Young to Star
HOLLYWOOD UPI — Gig Young will co-star with Kim Novak, James Garner and Tony Randall in the romantic comedy "Boys Night Out" for Columbia Pictures. Young last starred on Broadway in "Under the Yum-Yum Tree."

Harvey to Star
HOLLYWOOD UPI — Laurence Harvey has been set to star opposite Leslie Caron in Warner Brothers' new movie "The L-Shaped Room." The movie, based on Lynne Reid Banks' novel, currently is a best seller in Great Britain. Filming is scheduled to begin late this year or early 1962 in England.

Colleges Need Our Help

The cost of a college education is going up.

Caught in the rising price spiral, many colleges and universities across the nation will boost admission and other charges again this fall. It's becoming increasingly difficult for parents to give their children a higher education.

It hasn't been so very long ago that a student could attend a private college for about $1000 a year; quite a bit less at a state university. Now it costs upwards of $3000 a year in the private schools — and a proportionate increase has been at state institutions.

At state-supported Colorado University, for example, the tuition fee has been increased from $58.40 in 1940 to $262 this year. That's for residents of the state; non-residents paid $154.50 20 years ago and will have to pay $835 this year! At countless other schools the increase has been in approximately the same proportion.

Despite these increases in income, most of the colleges are not able to meet costs from tuition and other charges. More and more they have to depend on other sources of income. State-supported institutions boost their budgets and the taxpayers foot the bill. But private colleges and universities — like Occidental, Southern California and Stanford must raise the money through gifts and endowments.

That is why private schools of higher learning are undertaking big fund-raising campaigns. Millions of alumni throughout the country are being asked to help meet the rising costs of the schools and save some boys and girls of being priced right out of a college education.

As tuition costs increase many students are forced to attend the state schools. This is presenting a problem for the private institutions. But the need for maintaining the private schools should be apparent to everyone. Without them the state universities could not begin to accommodate all our young people seeking a higher education. Even if they could, the greatly increased tax burden would be prohibitive.

There is but one solution; a generous response by those who have benefited from a college education and other public spirited citizens who appreciate the increasing importance of higher learning in America today.

Other Editors

(Manchester Guardian) Trajis claim to be convinced of the strength of their case. They say they have innumerable unquestionable historic documents to prove it. Let these be produced before an arbitration tribunal, along with the map which General Kassim brought out at this recent press conference. What tribunal? The International Court already exists at The Hague, but understandably the disputants may prefer to settle their differences without having to resort to outsiders. Here is yet another task for the Arab League to attempt.

It should be easier to put together an arbitration court than an armed force to replace the British in Kuwait, although, if they can accomplish that as well so much the better. When once Iraq and Kuwait agree to arbitration it will not matter much how long their case took to come up.

A' present, General Kassim cannot abandon his claim without loss of face, but if it were sub judice he would have every excuse for not backing it with force. And if, at last, the tribunal did actually settle the matter, better still.

(Wall Street Journal) The House Ways and Means Committee has acceded to a position which the Senate adopted in previous sessions but which the committee hitherto has resisted—a withholding tax on interest and dividends.

It is contemplated that corporations, banks, and savings institutions will turn over to the government one sixth of all dividend and interest payments, to be held against the income taxes of the persons receiving them. This is expected to assure collection of about $500,000,000 in revenue now lost through failure of recipients to declare such income.

A leakage of this size is serious, but is the withholding method necessary in order to plug the loophole? Might the same purpose be accomplished by fuller checking of the dividend and interest reports which companies and banks already make?

A large proportion of these payments are in small amounts, so small that bookkeeping costs could readily eat up most of the revenue. A woman recently returned to the Treasury a check for seven cents, saying it would cost her 10 cents to get it cashed, and the prospect was that it would cost the government several times this amount to get it off the record. Should there not be some cutoff point below which the new withholding tax would not apply?

Remember When . . .

JULY 27, 1951

Last rites were held today for Clemente Segundo, 58, member and ex-chief of the Agua Caliente Band of Indians.

Palm Springs officially changed the name of the local hospital from the Palm Springs Community Hospital to Desert Hospital. The medical facility was expected to open in September and was dedicated on December 1.

Market advertisements in The Desert Sun said that beef roasts were selling for 73-cents a pound, and coffee was 87-cents per pound.

JULY 27, 1941

A pocket veto method killed legislation on the Mt. San Jacinto Aerial Tramway bill. It was two years before a new bill could be re-introduced.

Lyle Sanard, former State Highway Patrol officer in Riverside-San Bernardino Counties, was chosen as Palm Springs new Chief of Police.

Palm Springs humane officers imported wasps to feed on eggs of black widow spiders.

JULY 27, 1931

Palm Springs residents were warned that a gasoline war may break out again at any time. A price fight just ended and many companies were near the breaking point as they attempted to "get back on their feet."

So Long, Deppity ---

Dear Abby . . .

. . . by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: I am being married soon. My parents were divorced last year, but my father is paying for my wedding. I have planned it right down to the last detail, and I want it to be perfect. My problem is my mother. She is 38 and very beautiful. She bought herself a white organza dress that looks almost like my wedding gown. I showed her in the etiquette book where the bride's mother is not supposed to wear black or white, but she says the book was written 100 years ago, and she'll wear what she likes. Also, she wants to have as her "date" for the evening a man who is much too young for her. How can you tell your mother what to do — but your clergyman can make some appropriate suggestions. Tell him your problem and enlist his help. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to "SWEET 16" was excellent, but you were just giving advice from your own thinking. I can back it up with my own experience.

When I was 16 I also had a bad reputation, and ran with a fast crowd. I was lucky enough to convince my mother to move to another state. I had no friends but I lived a good, clean life for four years and, when I was 20, I met and married a fine man. I want to tell "SWEET 16" this: I've been through it and, believe me, it's best to move away and not tell anyone about your past. Not even your husband. If he loves you, he won't ask. I've been married for ten years, and have kept my secret from my husband because I love him, and don't want to burden him with my guilt.

I know God has forgiven me because He blessed me with a good husband and five healthy children. So now I've forgiven myself.

KEEPING QUIET

This Side of The Sun

By R. F. 'Phat' Graettinger

Been on a trip? Just drop us a line, The editor says, so here's one of mine.

Saw in The Desert Sun where the editor invited people who had been on a summer vacation trip to write a piece for the paper about it. That I can't resist.

LAST THURSDAY I had a date with the doctor for a routine check-up to see how I was doing. I got all dressed up to look respectable for the trip to his downtown office.

The blood-letting and other tests didn't take too long and there I was, at 11 a.m. neatly attired and no place to go.

I had been told to take it easy and not overdo it. Feeling ambitious, I decided that I was overdoing the 'take it easy' part.

SO I SUGGESTED that, since it was early, how about going to Hollywood? "Do you feel up to it?" asked both Mrs. G and Molly, an old family friend visiting us. "With you two girls to help me, how can I lose?" I replied.

"You'll find out quick enough how you can lose when you get to the track," was the unkind retort.

WE MAPPED the campaign plan on the drive to the park. With valet parking I wouldn't have far to walk and the problem of the escalator to the clubhouse level was easily solved. Mollie would get on the step ahead of me and Mrs. G on the step behind. She'd catch me if I started to plummet backwards at the bottom and Mollie would be waiting at the top to steady me when I arrived. It worked fine.

Upstairs, handy to the pari-mutual windows, I put my infallible, never-lose system into operation.

IT'S SIMPLE. I put $16 in a separate pocket. That's two bucks a race. It's my base. I figure I'm even, if at the end of the day, the pocket is empty. I also put any amount collected into that pocket and what's there when I go home. I count as profit. Anything over $16 is a birdie and over $32 an eagle. Eagles are hard to get. Birdies, too.

The daily double eluded all of us. My second horse won but it didn't do me any good. My first horse ran 9th.

THE GIRLS were doing all right but I was overly cautious. Betting the favorites and it was a day for long shots. Up to the feature race, the seventh, only one favorite came in and my base was getting pretty thin.

Then came the big race and Revel. Now Revel is owned by Helen Kenaston of Palm Springs. "I have to stick by the desert," I said. "It never lets you down."

WELL, THE RACE was run with Revel out in front almost to the end. Then he gave way, as the chart-makers say, and finished third.

I wasn't too pleased until I saw Mrs. G going to the cashier's window with a happy smile.

"Who'd you have?" I asked when she came back with a sheaf of that folding stuff.

"You said the desert never let you down," she said. "So I picked Windy Sands."

At 15 to 1, yet.

Kennedy's Aid Bill Is Filled With Explosives

By HOLMES ALEXANDER

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's Foreign Aid bill (S. 1983 by Senator Fulbright) carries the internal explosives of self-destruction. The powder-and-shot of imbedded demolition explains why the bill was reduced by almost a half-billion dollars from the Administration's estimated $4.7 billion before leaving for Foreign Relations Committee. The same reason tells why we may expect more fragmentation of the measure before it becomes law.

First among the self-killing contents of the bill are its "critical" and "crucial" arguments. I am relying heavily here upon facts and figures received from Senator Byrd of Virginia, who's very likely to expand them in debate. Mr. Kennedy and his entire ministry have tried to justify this astonishing bill on grounds of needful conditions in foreign lands. Well, by far the strongest arguments against the bill are the needful conditions in our own land.

Who Will Shed Tears? Who will shed a tear for the USA? In this bill, as the President asked our Congress to accept it, are 46 grants of discretionary executive power, and 18 authorizations to flaunt our own laws. To list only some examples: Title One of the Bill permits the President to apply Federal income other than taxes (such as sums acquired by selling surplus property) to economic development loans abroad. Existing law requires that such sums be deposited in the U. S. Treasury and withdrawn only on explicit orders of Congress.

Title Two permits the President to bypass existing laws about embargo of shipments to Iron Curtain countries.

Title Three disregards the law that requires giveaway goods to travel on at least a 50-50 basis in American flag ships.

The Fulbright bill takes its law-cracking course for 85 pages. While few members of Congress will spot all the violations, somebody's ox gets gored in nearly every section — and some of these sections will be forcibly expelled.

Next among the self-contained detonations is the uncouth, unprecedented size of the financial commitment. The Administration likes to list the estimated cost at around $4 billion a year with a Five-Year Plan to ensure continuity by "back door borrowing" from the Treasury. But Senator Byrd, a Finance Committee member for 28 years and currently its chairman, has dug deeper in search of truth. If Byrd is right (and few have the temerity to dispute him in this field), the President is authorized to spend at least $12.3 billion in the first year. And over the five-year period, the President could spend $39.8 billion on foreign aid.

Hemorrhage of Wealth This virtual hemorrhage of American wealth would flow untaunted by the annual appraisal which is the Constitutional duty of Congress. The Five-Year Plan deprives Congress of its full responsibility as guardian of the public purse.

If emergencies exist in the nearly six dozen countries on the aims list, do they not also exist in the USA? Our National Debt is close to reaching and passing the $300 billion mark. Our Defense Department spendings are now at $43 billion, and doubtless will go higher because of the Berlin crisis. The same upward trend is true of Atomic Energy and Stockpile costs.

But has the Kennedy Administration asked for cuts in domestic civilian outlays for Labor, for Welfare, for Housing, for Agriculture? Alas, no. Federal spending in domestic - civilian affairs was $19.1 billion a year when the Korean War ended and was estimated at $37.9 billion as the Berlin crisis begins this current fiscal year. In fine, our Federal handouts at home have almost doubled between 1954-62.

To Promote Welfare Third, I think, the self-destructive contents of S. 1983 is its philosophic presentation. The preamble reads:

"A Bill to promote foreign policy, security and general welfare of the United States by assisting people of the world . . ."

This is such arrant humbug that, despite Congressional capacity for absorbing the same, the bill is bound to follow Newton's Law and to provoke reaction in the opposite direction. It is a piece of insolence to ask us to believe the "general welfare of the United States" is promoted by expending our resources, indebting our posterity, and breaking our own laws and safeguards.

Many years of entangling obligations, and an unchecked flow of rhetorical hokum, have accustomed us to Foreign Aid. Some such legislation certainly will pass. A total cut-off would not be desirable — but American interests would be served if much of this particular bill should oxidize to nothingness before passage.

Friendship Can Add Travail to Travel

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Brought a cuckoo friend of mine home from Spain not long ago. Or, at least, I think I did. There's a fear that it might have been the reverse. The Spanish had him in a can on Majorca and were treating his mental problem by rapping him occasionally on the noggin with a bat. They gave him a few more lumps and shipped him to Madrid for me to pick up and take home to New York.

My pal, a newspaper chum, did what any first class reporter would do. When he finally comprehended that I was coming to fetch him he moved into a suite in the Castellana Hilton and asked that a menu be sent up. He likes caviar and champagne. Who doesn't?

The manager had never been as attentive to me. He raced to the door as I arrived and said, "Man, am I glad to see you. Your friends' been here for a week and he's run up a whopping bill. Says you'll pay for everything — including the rounds at night."

"What rounds at night?" "He buys a drink for everybody who happens to be in the bar each night at 7 o'clock. He makes a nice speech about you, and then buys everybody a drink on you. There's nothing like a friend."

Well, it was quite a flight home. What with one thing and another, it took 16 hours. The airline was cooperative enough. It would fly my pal, but there was one provision. I had to sit with him, or go with him wherever he wandered in the plane.

He found it hard to believe I had stopped smoking. "Have a smoke, Robin," he'd say, generously extending a crumpled pack.

"I'm off the weed."

"Really? Well, do you mind if I smoke?"

"Please do." He'd take a few puffs, grind the cigarette into the ash tray, and then a few minutes later he'd offer me another — and we'd go through the same routine. Little things like that can shake a fellow, though 16 hours.

Going through customs was a little harrowing. I found a good-natured inspector who was processing us through at close to the speed of sound and we were just about clear when my pal spoke for the first time.

"Okay, where are they, Buster?" he said to the customs fellow.

"Where are what?"

"You know what I'm talking about — my three typewriters."

chum said. He hadn't had a typewriter in several years.

"I don't know what you're talking about," the customs said, getting hot.

"What's happened to this country since I've been away?" Pal Joey asked. "A man comes in and the customs guy steals his three typewriters. Who's my congressman now? I'm going to take this up with him, believe you me!"

We somehow got away without being killed.

Now there was the question of the reunion with his ever-loving, Ever-loving, a hard-working gal, was too busy at her office to meet her spouse at the airport. The fact that he had married again in Spain might have had something to do with it, too.

Still, she wanted to be called — she told me in advance — as soon as he arrived. I went to the nearest phone booth and rang her up. When she came on the phone, I handed it to my pal and told him who it was.

"Thanks, Robin," he said. He eased down on the seat of the phone booth, and just as he was closing the door he said something that's been worrying me ever since. He said, lowering his voice:

"Hi, Sweetie, I got Bob Consider home okay . . ."

Keep Tossing Millions Into Post Office

tween the nation's business and "social" worlds.

No Connection But, McGovern cautioned, there's no "logical connection whatever" between postal service and postal rates . . . because both are "artificially" set by Congress.

The lawmaker's unique characterization of the Post Office as a socialized, service arm of Congress, unhindered by the rules of business economy, apparently coincides with the views held by many of his colleagues (50 of whom "fought" by his side for the postal salary rise).

While the speaker was advocating unlimited future tax subsidies to keep the Post Office solvent, postal accountants in this capital city were attacking a maze of statistics . . . to intelligently estimate the size of the "mythical" postal deficit.

From (fiscal) 1958 through 1961, the "imaginary" loss will cost American taxpayers $3,053,700,000!

These billions of "ethereal" dollars must be furnished by overburdened, realistic taxpayers, allocated from a national budget that is never in balance.

Pay-As-You-Go But is the Post Office really a "service," not a going business? Can't the agency, through intelligent reorganization, shake off its political shackles and operate as both a service and pay-as-you-go business enterprise?

The Hoover Commission laid out such a format back in '49. The department, alone among government agencies, functions as a business. It owns and leases thousands of buildings, operates fleets of trucks, employs a half-million workers and sells both products and services directly to the people.

It also makes a contract with the customer to deliver merchandise on schedule for a fee.

Moreover the Post Office has proved no less than 67 times (despite its losses) that it can operate both as a service and a successful business. It was deficit-free in its early days from 1779 to 1838. It showed annual surpluses 14 times from 1848 until 1884, and 1911 through 1919.

Made Money Once In three successive years—1943 through 1945—the agency tallied an operating surplus of nearly $227 million.

When the lid on wartime spending lifted, the postal surplus of $169,200,000 in '45 . . . became a $129,000,000 deficit in '46.

The thriving postal business became a hopeless failure in a single year. Its operating finances took a 140 per cent nose dive! Despite the controversy over whether the agency is a business or public service, it is in fact the world's largest business.

And it is trying to keep pace with far-seeing, prosperous corporations in modernization.

The Post Office has embarked on a stupendous and costly agenda of automation and experimentation. This is the "3 G" program of gimmicks, gadgets and gee-gaws geared to the postal service of the "future."

It is the "dream" of postal workers, the outgoing postmaster general recently declared, that every American will "one day" enjoy next-day delivery and receive "priority mail" the day it's deposited.

20-Year Wait (Europe has had both services for years. Jets now cross America in 5 hours).

Postal laboratories in Providence are using electronic "brains" the size of "two football fields."

(A venerable penny post card mailed May 7, 1940, in Manhattan to a now-deceased addressee in nearby Flushing, L.I., was received by the latter's bewildered nephew Nov. 26, 1960. The message related to an appointment . . . 20 years ago.)

One postal experiment, staged with appropriate fanfare in 1959, required the services of a fully-manned submarine and a voyage 200 miles off the Florida coast.

Results of this "mail-by-missile" gimmick will be "stored in postal archives" for the enlightenment of "future" Post Office brass.

In November, Members of Congress received blurry "speed mail" letters via "electronic transmission" billed as a "step into the future."

More Bounce The sequel to this stunt, also staged by the postmaster general, was a 200-word message urging "early Christmas mailing." This one was bounced "electronically" off the 1,000-mile Echo I satellite balloon . . . to a facsimile machine in the Newark Post Office.

(A recent Postal Bulletin to all hands contained five rules to prevent "lost" and "non-delivered" mail from finding its way into "dumping stations.") Concerning the department's leap into the era of automation, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield deplored hand-processing of mail reminiscent of "Benjamin Franklin's day" and promised mechanization across-the-board in the future.

Coming are self-service counter machines (to accept, weigh, stamp and insure your parcel), helicopter mail delivery to airports and P.O.'s letter-sorters with "mechanical arms" and a "small, handy machine" to stamp your coded address (or your friends') on standardized envelopes.

On His Way "This is no H.G. Wells concept of the future," Summerfield explained. "Man is on his way to outer space. Wherever man goes, the mail must follow . . . even to the moon and beyond."

Startling postal innovations of the future have triggered mixed editorial reactions. Many observers believe, however, that an improvement in current postal service and an end to astronomical deficits should get priority over missile-mail to the moon.

The Louisville Courier-Journal observed:

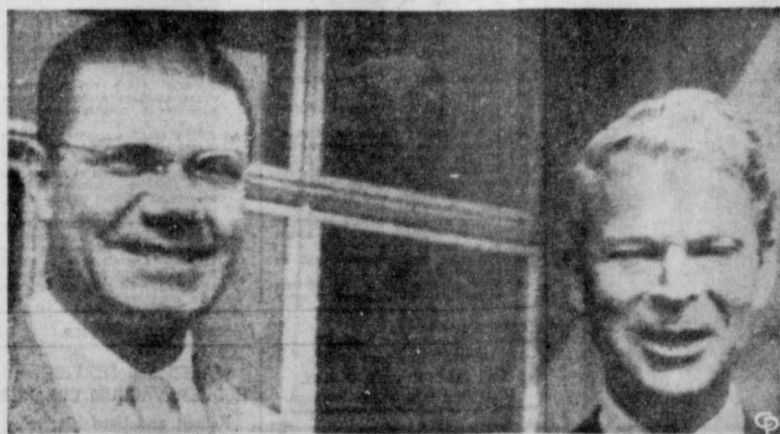

"Guarded hints of coming instantaneous, microwave letter transmission are greeted with cynical guffaws by the customers. 'Even if letters were wafted at the speed of light, five will get you ten that somewhere in the process of sorting and delivery . . . the hours would pile up and the miracle of transmission would be offset by the limping pace of postal routine.'"

"People who get one delivery a day . . . would regard with wonderment the European commonplace of same-day deliveries within cities. They (Americans) are resigned to an airmail letter taking three times as long as a man to cover the same distance.

Less Miracles Please "And they're not in the mood to take seriously these tantalizing hints of speed to come. Until the new marvel (arrives) . . . we'd be willing to settle for a few minor miracles.

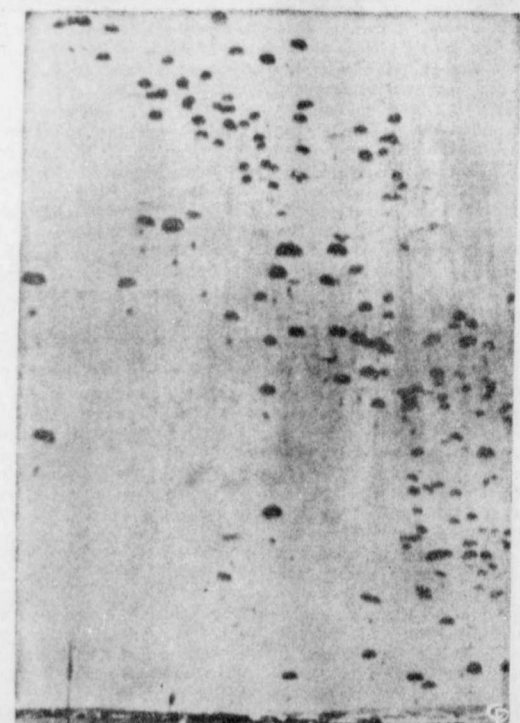

"Next - day delivery, for instance, of a letter mailed to any suburb . . . Day-after delivery for airmail to New York, Chicago, and other metropolitan areas. 'And while we're still dreaming, an eventual return to two deliveries a day. Until these are practical achievements, let's hear no more of simultaneous transmission and microwaves!'"

TOMORROW: Britain delivers the mail . . . at a profit.

Lauris Norstad, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe on Berlin crisis. Norstad's forces are outnumbered by Russians.

REINFORCING FRENCH TROOPS at Bizerte naval base, Tunisia, paratroopers drop on base and later drive Tunisians from Bizerte before cease fire is negotiated by leaders.

Here's More From Abby....

DEAR ABBY: My problem won't seem big to you, but it is big to me. I sit home, bored to tears, every night. No, I am not alone. My husband is lying on the couch with the carpiece of the transistor radio in his ear, listening to the baseball game. This happens almost every night. And on Sunday there is a doubleheader. I don't dare talk to him because I might be interrupting the best part of the game. He claims he still loves me. We have five children under six, but I would like to be talked to once in a while.

BORED

DEAR BORED: Don't tell me that a mother of five children under six can't find something relaxing to do for a few hours every evening while her husband is listening to the baseball game. Take a bubble bath. Read something. Take up needlepoint. Or get interested in baseball, too. But don't whine and plead boredom or your husband might go elsewhere to listen to the game in peace.

DEAR ABBY: I have a teenage daughter who is considered a beauty by everybody. We are middle class people, got to church regularly and try to live right. My daughter always has had plenty of dates. She has dated some of the finest and wealthiest boys in our city. But she never dates them more than once, although they ask her.

Now for my problem: She enjoys dating only the lowest kind of boys. She has even given me false names so I won't find out how low they are. Her father (who died when she was a child) always liked to pick up the cheapest kind of trash. (I never told her about this.) Could it be inherited? Why should a beautiful 18-year-old girl, with nice clothes and a good home, want to go around with scum?

PUZZLED MOTHER
DEAR PUZZLED: People pick "inferior" companions because they want to feel "superior." It is not inherited. In spite of your daughter's apparent advantages, she still feels a sense of inferiority. Tell her to watch her step. Her reputation is at stake.

DEAR ABBY: Our son has reached the age where he can legally drive a car, but neither my husband nor I has been able to teach him. My husband has tried several times, but he comes back so aggravated and overheated I worry about his heart and blood pressure. He has patience with everyone else but his own son. I have also tried to teach the boy, but I am worse than my husband. I get nervous and can't keep quiet. I warn him about every stop sign, every curve in the road and I see another car. I get panicky.

We can't afford those driving schools. Do you think it is safe to let him learn from his friends?

RICKY'S FOLKS
DEAR FOLKS: Driving lessons from a professional instructor with dual control automobile is the safest way to learn. You can't afford NOT to give your son proper instruction. ....

DEAR ABBY: My problem is very serious. My mother reads my diary. No matter where I hide it, she manages to find it. I am 14 years old and think I should be able to keep my diary personal. It is getting so that I am afraid to write down the true facts, and what good is a diary if it doesn't have the true facts?

What can a girl do about a mother who doesn't trust her? Please print your answer in the paper because if a letter came to the house for me my mother would probably open it.

NOT TRUSTED
DEAR NOT: Many mothers "snoop" out of curiosity rather than mistrust. But reading another's diary and mail is inexcusable. If you, at age 14, are reluctant to put down the "true facts," you and your mother need to have a heart-to-heart talk. You could both profit.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ENGAGED FOR 14 YEARS TO A MERCHANT MARINE": You are not "engaged," sister. You are permanently in drydock.

AS YANKS LEAD AL

Reds Edge Braves To Hold NL Lead

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Wednesday night, the Reds Chief employed Ken Johnson, fresh up from Toronto, against the Milwaukee Braves and the Reds won, 3-2, to preserve their one-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-1.

Johnson, 0-4 with Kansas City earlier this season, held the Braves to six hits during the seven innings he worked to gain his first victory. Jim Brosnan blanked Milwaukee on one hit over the last two frames.

Loser Don Nottbart had a 2-0 lead until the eighth when pinch hitter Gus Bell led off with a homer. Frank Robinson's 30th homer with one on in the same frame decided the game.

Pitch Boomed

Danny Murtaugh, was booed lustily in Pittsburgh Wednesday night even though his fifth-place Pirates ended a five-game losing streak with an 8-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

The Chicago Cubs downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-6, in 12 innings in the other NL game.

The New York Yankees retained their half-game lead in the American League with a 5-2 decision over the Chicago White Sox, while the Detroit Tigers beat the Los Angeles Angels, 5-4. Baltimore swept a two-night doubleheader bill from Boston, 5-1 and 9-2. Cleveland crushed Kansas City, 12-5, and Minnesota hung on for a 10-9 decision over Washington.

Pinch Single Wins

Pinch hitter Bob Will's single with the bases loaded and two out in the 12th inning gave the Cubs their victory over the Cards. Will's hit came off loser Lindy

Drysdale Hurls 6-1 Repeat Win To Firm NL 2nd

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — What Don Drysdale needs is a National League composed of his own Los Angeles Dodgers and seven teams of Philadelphia Phillies.

Such an unlikely situation could earn the fire-balling pitcher 30 or more wins a year.

But Drysdale is limited to whipping the Phils just every so often, such as Wednesday night when he beat them 6-1 at Connie Mack Stadium for his eighth win of the season and tenth in a row over hapless Philadelphia since 1958. He has beaten Philadelphia five times this season alone.

Sparked by a grand slam home run by Norm Larker, the first of his career, the Dodgers stayed right behind Cincinnati in the National League pennant chase and maintained their invincibility against the Phillies. Los Angeles has now won 12 in a row here over a two-season span.

Manager Walter Alston's charges, who have now won eight of their last nine games, including a pair against Philadelphia, tonight send out right-hander Stan Williams (10-8) against the Phillies' Chris Short (4-6) as they attempt to sweep the three-game series.

Drysdale, who has been somewhat of an enigma the past few seasons, has been no mystery against Philadelphia. Wednesday night he allowed only five hits, two of them doubles, struck out seven and walked two.

Jim Owens (1-4) suffered the loss and also suffered a muscle spasm in the right arm as the Dodgers came up with two runs in the third inning on a bunt single by Maury Wills, singles by Willie Davis and John Roseboro and a double play.

Frank Sullivan replaced Owens and coasted until the eighth when he loaded the bases. With two out Larker came up and the fiery-tempered first baseman lashed a 1-1 pitch over the right field wall to cinch the game.

Fish And Game Sets Trout Stock

LOS ANGELES — The Department of Fish and Game has scheduled the stocking of catchable-size rainbow trout this week in the following Southern California lakes and streams, depending on weather, water and road conditions:

Los Angeles county — Big Rock Creek, Crystal Lake, Legg Lake, San Gabriel River (east fork).
San Bernardino county — Arrowhead Lake, Big Bear Lake, Green Valley Lake, Gregory Lake, Santa Ana River.

TANGLED SPLASH often follows working on boat deck with coiled line underfoot. Correct safe procedure is shown below: knee firmly on deck, keep line in front or to one side. Standing throw is doubly dangerous from moving craft.

Sports In Brief

BOSTON (UPI) — Two first basemen and an outfielder were added today to the American League All-Stars by manager Paul Richards, who also juggled his pitching staff.

The newcomers include first basemen Roy Sievers of Chicago and Bill Skowron of New York and outfielder Tito Francona of Cleveland.

Dunlevie, Heat Register Low 99

BERMUDA DUNES — Members of the Bermuda Dunes Country Club honored club co-owner Ernie Dunlevie at a "99 Party" in the clubhouse.

The fete celebrated Dunlevie's bogey-ridden 99 in an 18 hole match — marking his first dip under 100 on the tally.
Ernie's epoch matched the thermometer for the day.

HONOLULU UPI — The 24-foot Trimaran Triumph arrived in Honolulu Wednesday after a three-week voyage from Los Angeles as an unofficial participant in the trans-Pacific yacht race.

The Triumph and another Trimaran, the Lodestar, joined the fleet of 41 yachts as they crossed the starting line off Los Angeles July 4.

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI) — Former pro golfer Ed (Porky) Oliver, 46, who has undergone two cancer operations in little more than a year, was back in Memorial Hospital today with a kidney infection.

Record Pass Aid As North Victors In Shrine Game

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The jinx that shackled the feet of Northern California's all-star backs in the yearly Shrine charity football classic has been broken.

It took a 6-foot-2 powerhouse from Madera to finally make believers out of Southern California football fans who had heard wonderful tales of northern backs. But then became incredulous as they failed to live up to their clippings.

Kent Nance, the Madera high ace who scored 32 touchdowns as a prep last season, was on the receiving end of a record-breaking 88-yard touchdown pass play and rolled up 68 yards rushing to pace the North to a 7-2 victory Wednesday night in the 10th annual classic.

Nance, who was an almost unanimous choice for the "player of the game" award, thrilled the crowd of 43,902 in the Coliseum as he grabbed a pass from Craig Morton of San Jose on the 50-yard line and raced the rest of the way for the only touchdown of what was forecast as a high-scoring contest.

"The lineman of the game" award went to Jim Murphy, stout center from Santa Barbara, who was last season's California Intercollegiate Federation "player of the year."

The South, a slight favorite at game time, got its lone score in the third quarter, when end Roy Jepperson of Compton tackled Nance in the end zone after the fleet back had taken a handoff from Jim Blakeney of Hanford following reception of a punt.

Welders Win Forfeit

Undeclared Chuck's Welders took a forfeit win over CVSLA when the opposing squad failed to muster enough men to play last night.

In an impromptu scrub game, Neal Green hurled a 6-0 win against his regular teammates.

Hitters Set Pace As Pirates Sink Dodgers 12-9

The Elks Lodge Pirates stole past the slumping Alejo Palms Dodgers in a Palm Spring Pony League game at the Polo Grounds last night by a score of 12-9.

Led by the hitting of Jim Pendergast, George Young, Roy Crawford, Sam Alexander, and John Booty the Pirates scored three runs in the first, one in the second, three in the fifth, and five in the sixth innings.

Winning pitcher was Paul Paine with Crawford coming on in relief in the fifth. Dave Miles took the loss.

Phil Poist, Mike Lewis, Miles, and Ezell James got hits for the losers who scored in four separate innings.

In the previous Pony set, Steve Gottlieb paced the Legionnaires past the Elks 8-4.

Gottlieb gave up four hits to the Elks, whose Mickey Morris fanned seven, gave up three bases on balls.

The Elks Pirates scuttled the Chi Chi squad 15-2 in four innings.

Paul Paine struck out nine for the Pirates, and relief hurler Roy Crawford, who took the mound in the fourth, fanned two. Carl Brennaugh started for Chi Chi followed by Jerry Olivera and Alan Berlam. Brennaugh gave up three hits, fanned five.

Upon rare occasions the wolverine will kill deer and caribou and has been known to attack moose.

NEWCOMER GOLF pro Phil Rodgers has confidence in his sinking powers, declares his lineup is "The world's great way to putt."
